BISHOP WARD IS SLOWLY DYING

Cablegram from Japan Gives No Hope To Anxious Watchers.

At Kobe, Japan, three hours' ride from Yokohama, Bishop Seth Ward of Houston is still alive, but the death angel hovers ever nearer and nearer. The contents of a cablegram were communicated to Mrs. Ward Tuesday morning, as follows:

"Half come, gradually sinking." The cablegram was sent from Japan by S. E. Hager, a resident missionary of the Southern Methodist church there, and was addressed to Dr. W. R. Lambert, missionary secretary, at Nashville. The message was repeated to Houston by telegram.

Mr. Hager met Bishop Ward at Yokohama, accompanied him to Kobe, and has been with him constantly during his illness.

The family and friends of Bishop Ward have been hoping against hope for his recovery from an attack of malignant malarial fever. He became sick while on board ship, and his condition became so grave that it was deemed necessary to put him ashore. For more than a week tidings of the bishop's death have been hourly expected. —Houston Chronicle.

KANSAS CITY STOCK MARKET.

Kansas City Stock Yards, Sept. 13.—Receipts of quarantine this month are running a little lighter than at this period last year, and the quality of the offerings is much mixed and generally of low grade, indicating that bulk of the stuff has been moved. The market last week showed very little change for the week, cows exhibiting a little strength in the closing days, steers fully steady for the week, calves off 35 cents. The run of quarantines today is 100 cars, market steady to strong, cows again showing up best. The offerings today include some 1420 pound fed steers from Coweta, Okla., at $5.50, highest price in the quarantine division for several weeks. A string of the Harris steers from the Osage country old today at $4.35, 1000 pound, and heifers in the shipment brought $4.10. Lighter steers sold at $3.40 to $4.25 today, and a string of the Haskell steers from Hominy brought $4.40 on different days last week. Cows range from canners at $2.25 to $2.75, up to $3.35 for car load lots, and $3.75 for odd head, bulls $2.80 to $3.25, calves $4.00 to $7.50. Recent rains have put pastures in good condition and made plenty of stock water, facts which seem to be holding down receipts in a manner best calculated to keep the market good, and the free movement of stockers and feeders to the country reduces the proportion of killing cattle in the receipts to a minimum, and thereby contributes toward preserving a healthy tone in the fresh meat trade.

The hog market had only slight interruption in its upward march last week, and has resumed its movement in that direction today. Supply today is 7000 head, market up 5 to 10 cents, heavy hogs at $8.15 to $8.35 today, medium weights also up to the top, $8.00 to $8.25, lights at $7.80 to $8.15. The top today is highest yet reached this year, and highest in the last 27 years, and considering the length of time present high range has been effective, the hog trade this fall has no parallel in the history of hog production.

ROSH HOSHONAH.

Jewish New Year Begins this Evening at Sunset. Ends at Sunset Tomorrow.

Rosh Hoshonah, the Jewish New Year, 5670, will begin at sunset this afternoon and continue until sunset tomorrow afternoon. By the Jewish calendar the earth is 5670 years old, and the celebration, or observance of this day as the first day of the new year, the beginning of the month Tishri, has been practiced by the Jewish people for thirty centuries.

The Jewish places of business in Bryan will close this afternoon at 6 o'clock and remain closed until tomorrow afternoon at 6. Services will be conducted tomorrow at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Levy by Dr. Deard of Waco.

RENEWED AND BEAUTIFUL.

Mr. John Daly has recently spent a large sum in renewing, renovating and beautifying his saloon and it is now one of the handsomest places, not only in the city, but in all the state. Extensive changes were made in the rooms of the second floor and a new stairway was put in.

In the saloon proper, the greatest transformation took place, the wall decorations being the prettiest to be found anywhere. A tiled wainscoting was put in around the entire room and above this a heavy vellum, of a rich red color. A deep border with green base ground runs around the room next to the ceiling and is made up of a succession of beautiful landscape views.

Elegant new fixtures were installed and they were placed on the opposite side of the room from where the old fixtures were. Changing the location of the fixtures further carries out the idea of newness. The new fixtures are massive and are as fine as money can buy, and ornament with new and sparkling cut glass, silverware and decorative novelties, completes the perfect appointments of this old and popular refreshment palace.

Mr. Daly cordially invites his friends to call on him in his new surroundings.

WORK AT HIDALGO BLUFF.

Lock Completed and Dam Will Be Finished in Eight Months.

Special to the Eagle.

Waco, Texas, Sept. 15.—Mayor Jas. B. Baker states that work on the lock and dam at Hidalgo Falls, Brazos river, near Navasota, is being pushed with great rapidity and a force is kept busy night and day working a double shift.

Sixty-five men are worked on each shift and the dam excavations for abutments are being used while water is at a low stage, this being an opportune time. The locks are already complete, and it is expected that the dam will have been completed and the entire proposition turned over to the government in the next eight months.

PUBLIC RECEPTION.

A reception, in honor of the faculty and students of Allen Academy and the faculty and students of the Bryan Baptist Academy will be given by the ladies of the First Baptist church, in the church parlors on Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

This social courtesy is extended, as an expression of appreciation, as a friendly welcome to teachers and students at this, the beginning of another school year, and also as an opportunity for the people of Bryan to meet and mingle with them.

Every body is cordially invited to be present, and help to emphasize this friendly welcome.

INSTANT RELIEF FROM DREAD CATARRH.

Why don't you get rid of that nasty, humiliating disease catarrh.

You can do it if you really want to. But you can't cure catarrh in a few days, that's an utter impossibility, because there is no remedy known that will kill the catarrh germs in that short time.

But you can cure catarrh if you will have a little patience and breathe in Hyomei (pronounced High-o-mei) three or four times a day.

Hyomei cures catarrh by killing the germs because it gets where the germs are.

Hyomei is a powerful antiseptic and germ killer air; it is made from the fluid extracted from the eucalyptus trees of Australia where catarrh is unknown.

It gives relief instantly, stops hacking in a few days and is guaranteed by E. J. Jenkins to cure catarrh, asthma, croup and bronchitis or money back. A complete outfit, including inhaler costs only $1.00 and extra bottles can be procured for 50 cents.

"Hyomei certainly saved my life and I accord it the credit which it deserves and merits. There is nothing too strong for me to say regarding Hyomei."—Mrs. Ada Hopkins, 8 Cutter Ave., Coldwater, Mich., August 22, 1908.

MI-ONA Cures Indigestion

She Knew the Saint.

Margery's cousin, Cecilia, was eight years old and pretty. She was also devoted to music and spent hours practicing on a large pipe organ. This, together with the fact that she invariably wore a rapt expression when she engaged earned for her the nickname of St. Cecilia. It happened that Margery's mamma was called to town and left her five-year-old daughter in charge of an obliging neighbor. This lady undertook to amuse her young guest by showing her a collection of prints, among which was a copy of the familiar presentation of the patron saint of music seated at the organ.

"This, my dear," said the obliging hostess, "is a picture of St. Cecilia."

"It doesn't look a bit like her," spoke up the tiny visitor.

"Why, how do you know?" inquired the astonished owner of the print.

"How do I know?" returned the equally astonished Margery. "Why, St. Cecilia is my own first cousin. She taught me my prayers and how to play Jackstones."

When Children Smoked.

In the seventeenth century in England the practice of juvenile smoking was almost universal, at least according to Jorevin de Rochefort, a French traveler of that period. In an account published in 1671 he gives a description of an evening he spent in Worcester. He was catechized by one of the townsmen as to the habits of the French people. "While we were walking about the town," he writes, "he asked me if it was the custom in France as in England that when the children went to school they carried in their satchel with their books a pipe of tobacco, which their mother took care to fill early in the morning, it serving them instead of breakfast, and that at the accustomed hour every one laid aside his book to light his pipe, the master smoking with them, and teaching them how to hold their pipes and draw in their tobacco, thus accustoming them to it from their youths, believing it absolutely necessary for a man's health."

Borrowing Trouble.

Kenneth, who views the future from the eminence of seven summers, was looking very woebegone.

Asked why, he hesitated for a moment, then, bursting into tears, "I've been wondering," he said between sobs, "when mother's dead—and nurse's dead—and my wife's dead—who'll look after me when I'm sick!"

The Ruling Passion.

Goldsmith somewhere tells of an old lady who, lying sick unto death, played cards with the curate to pass away the time and after winning all his money had just proposed to play for her funeral expenses when she expired.

His Only Chance.
